Disability Buy-Up Insurance. Additional financial protection for today and tomorrow.

Scene Description:

If an illness or injury prevented you from working, how would you cover your bills and day to day expenses? Many people turn to disability insurance as a way to help because it replaces a portion of your income in the unfortunate event that you can't work. But not all financial needs are alike.

Your employer provides a level of disability insurance to you, at no cost. But will it be enough to cover all your needs? You can increase your amount of coverage by enrolling in disability buy-up insurance. This additional coverage pays a higher benefit amount than what your employer provides, which can help make ends meet while you are unable to work.

Like any disability insurance policy, payments may come directly to you or anyone you designate and can be spent any way you like. Just like you would use your paycheck. Payments can help pay for planned expenses like child care, groceries, prescriptions, mortgage, or utilities. They can also cover unplanned expenses like medical bills.

Benefits for certain illnesses may be limited. Some injuries may not be covered. For example, self-inflicted injuries are not covered. Refer to policy documents for the definition of disability/disabled.

Our disability buy-up insurance may be more affordable than you think. You can sign up for this coverage at group rates. It's also convenient. We automatically deduct your insurance premiums from your paycheck, saving you the time and effort of writing checks and record keeping.

Depending on your policy, some or all of your disability buy-up benefits may be subject to income taxes. You should speak to your tax advisor for tax advice. Be on the lookout for additional information about this coverage from your employer.

Our disability buy-up insurance provides you with the opportunity to increase your disability coverage, providing a source of income while you are unable to work...so you can focus on a speedy recovery.

It's one of many ways that we're Putting Benefits To Work For People.
