What do you love most about your job?

Sheilah:

Everyone learns and receives information differently. What I love most about is how New York Life Group Benefits, Solutions, creates customized, creative pieces that will help people better understand the benefits. We embrace culture and diversity because every workplace is different. We get to know our clients and we'll create pieces that will help meet those employees where they're at. I love that we ask all the right questions. We get to understand who the employees are, where the gaps are, and how we can create the best approach to reach all those employees.
